WIRELESS MEAT THERMOMETER

Precision and flexibility – for perfect results every time, whether it's a quick weekday meal or a demanding BBQ challenge.

The wireless meat thermometer from Hâws BBQ is designed for both everyday dishes and culinary adventures. With a range of up to 244 metres, you have complete freedom of movement while staying in full control of the temperature – both inside and around the meat.

The probe measures core temperature up to 100 °C and ambient temperature up to 300 °C, giving you accurate results in any cooking situation.

The waterproof design makes it resistant to both grease splashes and rain, while the long-lasting battery ensures hours of uninterrupted cooking.

The thermometer connects effortlessly to the CHEFBBQ app for iOS and Android, where you receive live data, alerts and recommendations straight to your phone – helping you achieve the perfect result every time.

A reliable and user-friendly tool for the modern BBQ enthusiast and home chef, where technology and functionality go hand in hand. Designed with a focus on precision, durability and high-quality cooking.
